DEW DROPS

Early in the winter,
Even sun hesitate to wake,
Why am? But I'm Coz of something.
May be thee insists my soul,
To admire the gorgeous vision.

In greeny fuzzy lay as a Diamond,
The purest of purest in the Universe.

Droplet of Adam's all sent by God,
I have never seen thee at close Quaters.
May be it all matters.
I admire the shape of you,
As bald as a coot that baggle my mind.

Glittery drop gonna Vanish in few seconds,
Oh! Woe is me. I will miss you the often pearl.
Arrive next time to longlast ever.

DEAR CHILD

I seldom take the time to tell you

All the things I feel.

I want to tell you that my love

For you is very real.

I'll long appreciate your many

Kind and thoughtful deeds

You've always been so sensitive

Responding to my needs

I feel that you are special;

Let me thank you from my heart

For all your treasured wisdom

And the warmth that you impart

I always will respect you for

The ways in which you care

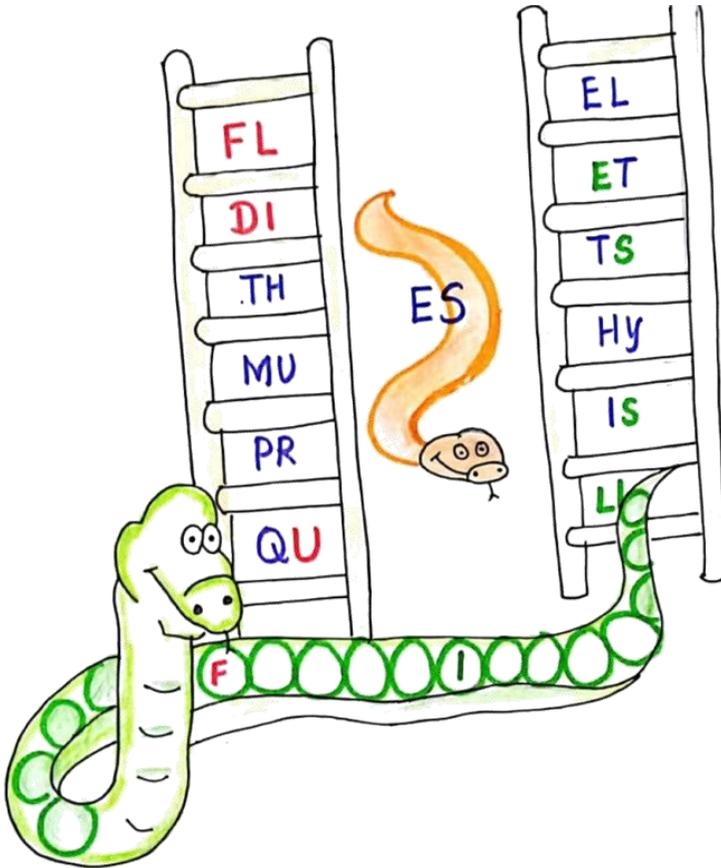

It's reassuring knowing that

Your love is always there.

MY DAUGHTY

The moment you had slipped out
My tired ears awaited your scream.
Upside down your journey had been
But no longer that could be...
Still I have not heard your cry
Yet to know what you are!
Just some chromosomes
But, determines the brand you are;
To be bought or to be sought!
When you were then raised
Million colours bloomed
In my tired soul
You are to be sought!

GIFT TO LIFE

Raju always quarrelled with his mom. One morning, Raju had a big argument with his mom and left the house angrily. As he walked, he complained about her.

‘Why does mom always scold me? Do this! Do that!’ He kept walking without seeing where he was lunch time. Raju’s tummy rumbled. As he walked past a bakery, the sweet smell of the pastries and cakes made him hungrier. Raju put his hand into his pockets and to his shock he realised that he was carrying no money. With a disappointed look on his face he walked on.

Soon it was night and Raju was ravenous. He was tired to Raju stopped in front of a temple. The temple Priest was locking the temple doors, when he saw Raju. The Priest took some food from the temple and gave it to him.

Raju refused it but the Priest said ‘It is Prasad my dear boy’. Raju ate it and thanked the Priest. Thank you! Thank you so much!’

The Priest asked Raju what he was doing here so last at night. Raju told the Priest that he had fought with his mom and left home. The Priest smiled.

Raju asked ‘Why are you smiling?’ ‘I realised you were hungry and provided you with just a single meal, and you’re calling me god. ‘Your mother on the other hand, though she might be busy with her office work or house work never leaves you hungry. Not even a single day in your life. So isn’t she above God’.

That’s when Raju realised his mistake. He ran home and stopped in front of the house gate, thinking his mom would scold him for leaving the house without telling anyone. But to his shock they saw his mom come running towards him and hugged him tightly and told him not to leave again like this. Before Raju could say sorry, his mother told him ‘Raju, you must be hungry, come I have made your favourite food for you’. That’s when Raju burst into tears and hugged his mom tightly and told her how much he loved her and would never do such a thing again.

WHO IS A FATHER?

A father is someone who Wants to catch you before you fall
But instead pick you up,
Brushes you off,
And lets you try again.

A father is someone who
Wants to keep you from negativity,
But instead lets you find your own way,
Even though his heart breaks in silence
When you get hurt.

A father is someone who
Holds you when you cry,
Scolds you when you break the rules,
Shines with pride when you succeed,
And has faith in you even when you fail.

IS MAN LEADING ON THE RIGHT TRACK?

Before scientific growth, Man finds time to admire nature, art, sculptures, natural introduction of invention, technologies and artificial intelligence man runs to make money like a machine. Without knowing the reason why to make money, we are running to make money. We thought earning money will make our life happy. But the fact is we miss happiness when we attain money in excess. We should work to live not live3 to work. Now-a-days we are solely spending our time in making money. Living a life is like an art. Today man's life is compared to clock in which man strives hard to earn money within a short span of his life. We people loss the visual treat of nature such as rising of sun, chirping of birds, twinkling of stars, artistic painting in the early days etc... and we are transcending beyond money like a machine. However money is important, we should feel the nature, a wonderful creation of God. We have to balance between working for money as well as admiring nature.

Living life to the fullest is about painting in the yellows of laughter, the blues of the birds song we hear, the reds the sadness that pulls us down at times. And the purples as we spring back up, pushing past the darkness and striding with a purpose towards the good times.

WHEN ADVERSITY CALLS

Once there was a girl named Asha who lived with her mother and father in a village. One day, her father assigned her a simple task. He took three vessels filled with boiling water. He placed an egg in one vessel, a potato in the second vessel, and some tea leaves in the third vessel.

He asked Asha to keep an eye on the vessels for about ten to fifteen minutes while the three ingredients in three separate vessels boiled. After the said time, he asked Asha to peel the potato and egg, and strain the tea leaves. Asha was left puzzled – she understood her father was trying to explain her something, but she didn't know what it was.

Her father explained, “All three items were put in the same circumstances. See how they've responded differently.” He said that the potato turned soft, the egg turned hard, and the tea leaves changed the colour and taste of the water. He further said, “We are all like one of these items. When adversity calls, we respond exactly the way they do. Now, are you a potato, an egg, or tea leaves?”
